

Public Voice: find confidence and impact

Public Speaking is a universal tool. It will open doors in the most surprising places. It starts with clarity. You'll need to inspire and motivate various stakeholders by commanding attention, convey ideas and build trust.

It's well known that confident public speakers grow their professional network, get invited to collaborate and tend to develop professionally as a consequence of their skills. What are you waiting for?

In our dynamic and challenging workshop you'll learn how to address diverse and global audiences. Even better, we enable you to sustainably develop your skills beyond the course and integrate new learnings into your future development.

This dynamic course is aimed at experienced professionals who are required to deliver important public speeches such as a keynote speech at an international conference, an after-dinner speech at a fund-raising event, or the opening speech at an event for a law society. The course will get delegates to review and extend their current practice and develop their ability to connect more powerfully with their audiences.
